- We will only accept returns by mail. We will not accept them in person.
- We will not accept returns COD.
- We will not accept return requests for items after 30 days from the date they were delivered to you. If they are returned to us without approval, they will be shipped back to you.
- Return shipping is not our responsibility. You, the customer will be responsible for shipping and packaging costs related to returning an item. We encourage you to choose a service that will provide you with tracking and that will allow you to insure your shipment. This will ensure that you know when your return has arrived at our warehouse and if it gets damaged in shipping, you can recoup the cost of the product from the carrier. We are not responsible for lost, damaged or misdirected returns.
- International orders are subject to import, duties, and customs taxes, which are applied once your shipment reaches the country of destination. We cannot predict what your particular charges may be. For more information regarding your country's custom policies please contact your local customs office. All taxes, duties and customs fees are the responsibility of the recipient of the package. Your local carrier can give you information on the method of payment accepted for the duties, taxes and other fees collected upon delivery.

Please note Ticketing/VIP, custom merchandise, download purchases, point and membership items are nonrefundable
